MILK SELLING AT OLD PRICE

Dairies and Creameries Resume, but Ignore "Fair-Price" Scale.

Local creameries and dairies have resumed the delivery of milk to the Chattanooga public and practically all are openly disregarding the prices fixed by the fair price committee. Especially is this true of the creameries. For the first time since the prices were fixed by the federal fair price committee, milk was placed on sale again in the Central market house this morning. Marketmaster Andy Ware stated that the market was forced to discontinue the sale because the Wise Creamery company, the concern from which milk was purchased, refused to deliver it. This creamery notified the stall keepers this morning that it would deliver milk at the same prices asked prior to the promulgation of a new scale by the government committee. Vendors of milk at the market state that they are paying the creamery 8 cents per pint and are selling it for 11 cents, this being about 25 per cent. profit.

Milk is also being delivered again to the grocery stores by the dairies and creameries. The stores are paying about 4 1/2 cents a pint and 16 cents a quart wholesale and are retailing it for 11 cents a pint and 21 cents a quart, plus the amount charged for bottles.

Officials of the Peerless creamery refused to give any statement to the general public this morning other than to say that they are selling at the old prices.

Manager Darter, of the Clover Leaf creamery, stated this morning that his company was selling wholesale at 8 1/2 cents per pint, or 16 cents a quart, and retailing at 11 cents a pint and 20 cents a quart. Before the fair price committee took action the prices were 17 cents a quart.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How to Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passage of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more yawning, sniffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.—(Adv.)

YOU AND YOUR MONEY

THE VARIETY OF ROOSEVELT'S INVESTMENTS

(By JOHN M. OSKISON)

Among thrift talkers Theodore Roosevelt used to be quoted along with Ben Franklin. In his opinion the first duty of a man to his family was to get ahead of the day's need, to lay up something in the way of investment.

Recently the complete inventory of property left by T. R. was made public by the New York state tax authorities. It furnishes an interesting study in diversity, for there are represented on the list fifteen different stock issues and thirty-eight bond issues.

Roosevelt either knew a good security or followed good counsel. Of the fifteen stock issues passing to his estate only two are set down as of no value, and of one of these he held only three shares. Three New York bank stocks and the stocks of such railroads as Pennsylvania, Atchafalpa, and Great Northern preferred showed the conservatism of his investment policy.

His heaviest bond investment was in the government liberty issues—the first, third, and fourth. He had put $75,000 in them. In but two other bonds were his holdings as great as in the first issue of liberties, the 3 1/2% into which he put $20,000. He held also $1,000 of the Canadian victory loan and $10,000 of the 1919 Anglo-French bonds, payable in 1920.

Three thousand dollars invested in Mexican bonds was written off as a loss, and $20,000 Rock Island bonds of an old issue were set down as of no value. On the whole, probably not 3 per cent. of Roosevelt's investments turned out to be worthless.

By far the larger part of his bonds quart and 9 cents a pint wholesale; they were 11 cents a pint and 21 cents a quart retail.

Harry Wise, when asked to give out a statement, said that he didn't feel it was a matter of public interest to give out his prices. He declared that his company sold only to the wholesale trade and had only discontinued their delivery for one day, which was last Sunday. However, he was reminded that the stall in the market house had not received any milk until today. This place, Wise declared, is the only one that his creamery sells to that retails milk over the counter direct to the public. Wise stated that he gave all the evidence in the case to the fair price committee that he thought was necessary.

In speaking of the slight reduction made in his prices Mr. Darter, of the Clover Leaf dairy, declared this morning that at existing prices his company is making practically no profit, but that if it were not for the present need of the public without a loss he would be willing to do it.

The grocers state they are satisfied with the prices fixed by the fair price committee and are willing to abide by the prices if the creameries do likewise.

Meeting Postponed.

Commissioner Emil Wassman, representing the city commission, and Judge W. B. Swaney and W. G. M. Thomas, members of the fair price committee, will meet Saturday morning in Judge Swaney's office to discuss the milk situation. Creamery men are asked to meet with them and efforts will be made by Commissioner Wassman to adjust the differences between the committee and the milkmen. The meeting was to have been held Friday morning, but was postponed because some could not attend.

Eleven Suggestions for Fuel Conservation

Some suggestions adopted unofficially in Birmingham which tend to conservation of fuel supplies there were published recently in The Birmingham Ledger. They are as follows:

(1) All of the tobacco smokers have been forced to wear small reservoirs, generally strapped on the shoulders, with a convenient tube of transmission arranged on the face, through which the warm fumes are forced back to the thermos-like compartment. An emergency invention which separates the heat from the smoke therein has been devised and when a man reaches home at night, cold and disgusted, the only necessary action is to press a button and presto! the thermos bottles up to 85 degrees. The method is very simple and has proven very satisfactory, only that tobacco dealers state there has been a marked increase in devotees to the black weed. The anti-tobacco leagues have warmed up over this fact, so it is ideal from every viewpoint.

(2) An ordinance requires every citizen to do the shimmy at thirty-minute intervals between the hours of 4 p.m. and 9 a.m., which is agreed by every one to be quite novel and invigorating.

(3) Every married male citizen is urged to develop an argument with his better half on the subject of suffrage. Sir, this plan has caused the fire department to establish a record for calls, for in several instances the houses have actually burst into flames.

(4) A leased wire has been brought into the city from Hot Springs. Also, giant pipes are being placed between Birmingham and Atlanta. It is stated that our continental city has a superabundance of hot air.

(5) The most satisfactory arrangement thus far is to have the people price eggs, shoes and Christmas presents. The majority of them get suddenly hot under the collar and it spreads rapidly.

(6) Every young man in the city whose affections are centered in a member of the fairer sex that possesses sanguine-colored hair is instructed to direct sarcastic remarks toward her. It might be added that the idea has proven a blessing in the solution of the heat problem.

(7) As an extreme measure, the city commission will invite Senator Reed to speak here on the league of nations. That has quite a warming effect.

(8) Thinking about the arrogance of Mexico has proven quite effective.

(9) Forgetting to buy cigarettes and cigars before 4 p.m. is keeping several thousand of our prominent men warm.

(10) The mere pricing of apartments has proven a real feature in our observation of the fuel administration regulations.

(11) Thinking about the coal strike has caused large numbers of us to become heated more or less.

Newberry Co-Defendants In Court for Arraignment

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 5.—When federal court opened this morning ninety-four of the 135 men indicted on charges of conspiring to illegally elect United States Senator Truman H. Newberry had appeared for arraignment. Of the remaining forty-one, twenty have accepted service of warrants through their attorney and are not scheduled to appear until next Monday. This list includes Senator Newberry and his principal campaign leaders.

As the coming legal battle draws nearer there are indications that it will be a long drawn out fight. Statements by leading attorneys for respondents foreshadow a general demurrer, motions for separate trials and other moves against the course were railroad bonds—Union Pacific, Atchafalpa, B. & O., Central of New Jersey, Central of Georgia, Burlington, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Wabash, Southern, St. Paul, Alton, etc. Generally speaking, they were the sort of bonds our savings banks buy; income on them ranged from 3 1/2 to 5 per cent.

Safely first was obviously the Roosevelt policy in making investments. He owned bonds of a par value of $565,000, the income from which was between $20,000 and $25,000 a year—not much above 4 per cent.

He was a successful man who in his life illustrated his own fine teachings. He wasn't rich in the sense that is understood in Wall street. Probably the larger share of the $311,000 he left was inherited. But he did add something to the accumulation to be passed on to his large family.

He did not make money-getting his chief interest—or even one of his chief interests. In that respect he was representative of the best in America, of the best in the world. But he used diligence and common sense in the handling of the "ten talents" which had passed into his care.

He spent freely because he earned largely. He was generous. He lived in comfort for nothing for the luxuries. He saw to it that the larger life he loved was amply financed. Dying, he not only left the world richer because of his life, but he passed on an inheritance a little larger than he had received.

And that was the substance of his thrift teaching, the proper ambition of the true American.

outlined by the court.

Several more of those named in the indictments appeared this forenoon. They were Byron J. Sherrard, of Marquette, representative of a big iron mining company; John Jones, Ontonagon attorney; Thomas Phillips, Detroit, who was connected with the publicity department of Newberry campaign committee; Fred Cronenwett, former sheriff of Monroe county, and Charles Tufts, state senator from Ludington.

It was announced also James W. Helme, former state dairy and food commissioner, has been summoned to appear.

Ex-War Minister Denies He Ordered 150 Men Shot

Berlin, Dec. 5.—Testifying Wednesday at the trial of First Lieut. Marloh, who is accused of shooting twenty-nine sailors on March 11 last during the Spartacist uprising, Maj.-Gen. Reinhardt, former Prussian war minister, admitted he ordered Lieut. Marloh to act energetically and ruthlessly, but denied he ordered 150 men shot as alleged in testimony given earlier in the trial. He said, however, he would have believed the order as entirely justified and alluded to the critical situation in Berlin at that time.

Capt. Kessel testified Gen. Reinhardt told him that in his opinion the entire marine division should be shot. Capt. Kessel admitted he instructed Lieut. Wehmayer to order Lieut. Marloh to act ruthlessly even if it cost the lives of 150 men. In passing on this verbal order to Marloh, Lieut. Wehmayer testified the former replied: "Shoot 150 men? You are mad."
